To the Reader.

I Haue endeuored, (gentle Reader) to set downe the principall pointes of Christian Religion, in as plaine sort as I could possible: for their sakes especially, whose capacities are small, and memories vnable to containe much. If I haue attained that which I attempted (that is to say, their profite) I haue my desire: If otherwise, then, although my woorke deserue not praise, (which if it did, were due onely to God) yet my will desireth pardon, which I doe not doubt to obtaine at thy handes, seeing I seeke nothing but thy aduantage. The excuses that are daily made for ignorance, while one layeth the fault in his want of time, an other in his simplicitie, and want of capacitie, and others in want of memorie, &c. did much moue me to trie what I could doe, to doe them good: although I am not ignorant, that others also haue gone about ỹ same. But such is the dulnesse of our dayes, and so hard is it to be both short and yet plaine, in so great matters, that it is vvell, if eyther their or my labour, or all that we all can doe, may bring men forwarde in the faith. If wee misse this, yet because wee meane it, he that is not vncharitably suspicious, wil not thinke the labour superfluous. If this come to the hands of such, as are already past such A. B. Cees, let it not offend them, that children are ledde, though they beeing men can goe alone. And let them leaue this, eyther to children in yeares or in knowledge: whiche must of necessitie be trained vp in this, or such shorte and plaine sorte, if they will profite, as I pray God they may, and wee all euerie day increase in knowledge, & growe in the grace of our Lorde Iesus Christ, who euer preserue you, & to whome be prayse in the Church through all generations for euer. AMEN.

M. What is the outwarde signe & sure seale of Baptisme?

Iohn.3.23. Acts.8.36. 38.

P. Water.

M. Howe doth it strengthen your faith in Christ, and all his benefites by your senses?

P. That as I see and knowe water wherewith I haue bene baptized, doeth washe and make cleane thinges that are foule: so as certainely Christ doeth giue himselfe to me, ỳ his blood may alwayes wash and cleanse me from al my sinnes.

Acts.2.38. & 22.16.

M. And what is the outward signe and sure seale of the Lordes supper?

1.Cor.11.13 24.25.

P. Bread and wine.

M. And howe doe they strengthen your faith in Christ by your senses?

P. That as I know bread and wine to be a full & perfecte nourishment of my bodie: and as I see the same giuen vnto me in the communion by the Minister: and I take, and eate, and drinke ỹ same: so as certainely Christ giueth to me his body and bloud to be the full and perfect fode of my soule to eternall life. 1.Cor.10.16 Mat.26.26. 27. Ioh.36.54. 55.

M. From whence haue they this force, to seale and confirme the trueth of these thinges in your heart?

P. From the institution of Christ, who is trueth it selfe, and can not deceiue. Luk.22.19. 20. Matt.28.19

M. By what meanes is this brought to passe, seeing Christes body is now in heauen, and there must continue till his comming againe? Act.3.21.

P. By the secrete power of the holy Ghost, which by faith maketh mee one with Christ: and Christ with me. Io.6.63.56.

M. Seeing Christe (which you haue saide before) can not deceiue, offereth himself, and al his benefits thus certainly, by them, Are al that come vnto them, partakers of the same? Rom.3.4. 2.Tim.2.13.

P. Prayer.

M. What is ỳ vse of prayer vnto you?

P. Seeing God is now become my father, through Christ his sonne, I flie and haue recourse to him by the same, for all thinges needefull, both for my body and soule.

Luk.11.1.2

M. How ought we to pray?

P. Euen as our Lord Jesus Christ himselfe hath taught vs.

M. Rehearse the same as you haue learned it.

Luk.11.7. Matth.6.9.

P. Our father which art in heauen, &c.

M. May we pray with no other wordes then these?

Iac.4.3. 1.Io.5.14.

P. Yes: but this is the rule whereby all our prayers must be squared, if we shall pray aright, & obtein any thing by them.

M. And doe you pray so ofte as you vse these wordes?

Matt.15.7.8 1.Cor.14.15

P. No: for if I do not vnderstand what thinges I pray for, and desire earnestlie in my hart, whatsoeuer I aske with my tongue, I babble rather then pray.

Matt.6.7.

M. What thinges doth this rule of praier chiefly chiefly conteine?

P. First I learne by it, how to be prepared to prayer: secondly, what thinges to pray for.

M. In which wordes learne ye how to be prepared to prayer?

P. In these: Our father which art in heauen.

M. What learn you by this word Our?

P. That I ought to be in loue, & to pray for others as well as for my selfe.

M. What in this word Father?

P. That I must pray with this faith and sure trust in his sonne Iesus Christ, wrought in my heart by the holy Ghost, whereby onely I, and all the faithfull haue this boldnesse to call him father.

M. What in these: Which art in heauē?

P. That he is readie and able to performe, whatsoeuer I aske: And that my minde must be remoued from al earthly and wandring thoughtes, and present it selfe before him in heauen.

M. What followeth next?

P. The petitions for the thinges conteined in the same.

M. How many are they?

P. Sixe.
